READING COMPREHENSION

STRATEGIES FOR ATTEMPTING COMPREHENSION

- 1- Read the title.
- 2- Quickly skim through the questions. This will help you to predict what the passage/ poem is about. It will help you to read and understand its contents with more clarity and will keep your mind focused on its theme.
- 3- Focus on the question that tests vocabulary skills. Read the antonym/synonym given. Look at the numbers of the paragraphs. Write each word against its respective paragraph. This gives you a ready reference and helps you to identify the word in the passage / para while reading.
- 4- While reading do the following:
 - a. Underline the content words
 - b. Underline the possible answers of the given questions. It will help you to identify the answers faster.
 - c. Encircle the words that are answers for the vocabulary. Normally a noun for noun, a verb for a verb and an adverb for an adverb etc.
- 5- Answer the questions -
 - a. The underlined content will help you to find the answer.
 - b. If confused between two words:
 - i. Choose the word of the same part of speech / form
 - ii. Read the sentence with the word in the question in place of the ones you are choosing from the passage.
- 6- Additional tips:
 - a. Write clearly and neatly.
 - b. Keep in mind the marks allotted to each question.
 - c. Do not leave any question unanswered.

PASSAGE - 1

1. The children probably don't know, or they don't care, the hugely popular WWF wrestling matches are actually all staged acts. The Hulks, the Undertaker or whatever else they are called-never really punch or kick as hard as they might appear doing on the show. It's all a show, a thrilling show.
2. So, you can't really blame children for getting hooked. But does that necessarily mean the show is entirely responsible for beating 12-year-old Subin Kumar got from his WWF inspired friends? Can viewing or watching violence on TV actually promote aggressive behaviour in children?
3. Media experts and social scientists have been wrestling with this question for decades and thousands of studies have been done on it. And most of them reached the same conclusion-media violence is responsible for aggressive behavior in children.
4. Research has found that the more violence children watch on television, the more likely they may act in aggressive ways towards others. Also, they become less sensitive to others pain and are less likely to help a victim of violence.
5. A study of violence on Indian television and its impact on children commissioned by UNESCO accused the idiot box of "bombarding young minds with all kinds of violent images, cutting across channels, programmes and viewing times."
6. Not only studies, but also incidents go to prove that children who watch violent episodes show increased likelihood of behaving aggressively.
7. There have been reports from all over the country of children hurting themselves while trying to ape the superman feats of Shaktiman, the superhero of Indian TV. Then there was the six-year-old child of Lucknow who leapt off the balcony of his second floor flat trying to imitate a bungee jumping drop shown in a soft drinks commercial.
8. There's no doubt that media is a powerful teacher and contributes greatly to the way we act and behave. In some cases like these, the effects are immediate and in others there is a "sleeper effect", where the results show up much later.
9. Experts say it's incorrect to blame the media squarely. How would you explain the aggressive behavior of a child who has never been exposed to television or any other media? So, while there is mounting evidence to link media violence and actual violence, most of it does not prove a direct cause-and-effect relationship. Because no one so far has been able to prove why and how TV affects some people and not the others. "we also have to take into account individual differences and vulnerabilities as human behavior is result of many factors," points out Dr. Vasantha R. Patri, a counsellor, adding, "violence viewing is only one of the myriad influences on a growing child."
10. Patri says there exists a population of risk individuals whose anger, aggression and anti-social tendencies are already quite high for whatever reason. Other factors like individual predisposition of the child, parental attitudes and reaction to aggression are probably equally important. In fact, she says that in most cases media is only the fourth most important influence in child's life-with parents, teachers and peers being the first three.

11. Patri points out that the growing "here-and-now" culture in which kids are getting used to immediate gratification is leading to an intolerant society on the whole. "Children are not taught how to handle failure and conflict," she says. "As a result, they resort to aggression."
12. But media critics refuse to buy it. They insist the content of media needs to be monitored and care be taken to reduce violence if not remove it. But even if all the gore and violence is completely removed from the media, will it make a significant difference in aggressive behavior of children? And then how do you justify the facts that studies have shown that viewing violence on TV also provides an opportunity to discharge the pent-up, aggressive feelings of anger, hostility and frustration.
13. "The problem is not with the media, but the lack of media education," points out Patri. "No one teaches the children how to assess the reality status of TV programmes." Good parenting, she says, is perhaps the greatest defence against the negative effects of violent images on TV.
14. Experts say it's time that parents and teachers took a long, hard look at themselves in the mirror. Say's Patri, "Most parents treat TV as a baby-sitter when it suits them. And when something goes wrong, they turn around and blame TV for it!"

(e) How, do you think can the problem be solved?

(f) How are children becoming impatient?

C. Find words in the passage similar in meaning as:

(a) Exciting (Para 1)

(b) An extremely large number of something (Para 9)

PASSAGE - 2

1. Among the natural resources which can be called upon in national plans for development, possibly the most important is human labour. Since the English language suffers from a certain weakness in its ability to describe groups composed of both male and female members, this is usually described as "manpower".
2. Without a productive labour force, including effective leadership and intelligent middle management, no amount of foreign assistance or of natural wealth can ensure successful development and modernization.
3. The manpower for development during the next quarter century will come from the world's present population of infants, children and adolescents. But we are not sure that they will be equal to task. Will they have the health, the education, the skills, the socio-cultural attitudes essential for the responsibilities of development?
4. For far too many of them the answer is no. The reason is basic. A child's most critical years, with regard to physical, intellectual, social, and emotional development, are those before he reaches five years of age. During those critical formative years he is cared for almost exclusively by his mother and in many parts of the world the mother may not have the capacity to raise a superior child. She is incapable of doing so by reason of her own poor health, her ignorance and her lack of status and recognition of social and legal rights, of economic parity of independence. One essential factor has been overlooked and ignored. The forgotten factor is the role of women. Development will be handicapped as long as women remain second class citizen, uneducated without any voice in family or community, decisions without legal or economic status, married when they are still practically children, and henceforth producing one baby after another, often to see half of them die before they are of school age.
5. We can enhance development by improving 'women power', by giving women the opportunity to develop themselves. Statistics show that the average family size increases in inverse ratio to the mother's years of education- is lowest among college graduates, highest among those with only primary school training, or no education. Malnutrition is most frequent in large families, and increases in frequency with each additional sibling. The principle seems established that an educated mother has healthier and more intelligent children, and that is related to the fact that she has fewer children. The tendency of educated, upper class mothers to have fewer children operates even without access to contraceptive services.
6. The educational level of women is significant also because it has a direct influence upon their chances of employment, and the number of employed women in country's total labour force has a direct bearing on both the gross national product and disposable income of the individual family. Disposable income, especially in the hands of women, influences food purchasing and therefore the nutritional status of the family. The fact that the additional income derives from the paid employment of women provides a logical incentive to restrict the size of the family.

QUESTIONS:

A. Choose the most appropriate option:

(a) Among the natural resources which can be called upon in national plans for development.....

- (i) The most important is certainly human labour.
- (ii) The most important is possibly human labour.
- (iii) The least developed is certainly human labour.
- (iv) The least developed is undoubtedly human labour.

(b) Without a productive labour force, including effective leadership and intelligent middle management.....

- (i) No productive work is possible.
- (ii) Entrepreneurs will incur heavy losses.
- (iii) Economic development will not keep pace with national movements.
- (iv) No amount of foreign assistance or of natural wealth can ensure successful development and modernization.

(c) Development will be handicapped as long as women remain.....

- (i) second class citizen
- (ii) third class citizen
- (iii) first class citizen
- (iv) fourth class citizen

(d) Disposable income in the hands of women strengthen

- (i) Family bond
- (ii) Nutritional status of the family
- (iii) Spiritual status of the family
- (iv) None of these

B. Answer the following questions briefly:

- (a) What will be the source of the manpower development during the next quarter century?
- (b) During which period is the child growth maximum?
- (c) Why can't the first teacher of a child be effective in many parts of the world?
- (d) What will happen to development if the womenfolk is neglected?
- (e) What is the difference between an educated mother and an illiterate mother?
- (f) How can we accelerate the rate of progress?

C. Find words in the passage similar in meaning as:

- (a) Increase (Para 5)
- (b) Important(Para 6)

PASSAGE - 3

1. Since its invention a little over 130 years ago. The interview has become a commonplace of journalism. Today, almost everybody who is literate will have read an interview at some point in their lives, while from the other point of view, several thousand celebrities have been interviewed over the years, some of them repeatedly. So it is hardly surprising that opinions of the interview - of its functions, methods and merits - vary considerably. Some might make very extravagant claims for it as being, in its highest form, a source of truth, and, in its practice, an art. Others, Usually celebrates who see themselves as its victims, might despise the interview as an unwarranted intrusion into their lives, or feel that it somehow diminishes them, just as in some primitive cultures it is believed that if one takes a photographic portrait of somebody then one is stealing that person's soul.
2. V.S Naipaul 'feels that some people are wounded by interviews and lose a part of themselves', Lewis Carroll, the creator of Alice in wonderland, was said to have had ' a just horror of the interviewer' and he never consented to be interviewed- it was his horror of being lionized which made him thus repel would be acquaintances, interviewers, and persistent petitioners for his autograph and he would afterwards relate the stories of his success in silencing all such people with much satisfaction and amusement. Rudyard Kipling expressed an even more condemnatory attitude towards the interviewer. His wife, Caroline, writes in her diary for 14 October 1892 that their day was 'wrecked by two reporters from Boston. She reports her husband as saying to the reporters, "why do I refuse to be interviewed? Because it is immoral! It is a crime, just as much of a crime as much merits punishment. It is cowardly and vile. No respectable man would ask it, much less give it," yet Kipling had himself perpetrated such an 'assault' on Mark Twain only a few years before. H.G Wells in an interview in 1894 referred to 'the interviewing ordeal', but was fairly frequent interviewee and forty years later found himself interviewing Joseph Stalin.
3. Saul Bellow, who has consented to be interviewed on several occasions, nevertheless once described interviews as being like thumbprints on his windpipe. Yet despite the drawbacks of the interview, it is supremely serviceable medium of communication. "These days more than at any other time, our most vivid impressions of our contemporaries are through interviews," Denis Brian has written. "Almost everything of moment reaches us through one man asking questions of another. Because of this, the interviewer holds a position of unprecedented power and influence."

QUESTIONS:

- I. On the basis of your understanding of the above passage, answer each of the questions given below by choosing the correct option:
 - a) The positive opinion regarding interview is
 - i. An intrusion
 - ii. Source of truth
 - iii. Information in complex form

- iv. Both first and third
- b) Negative opinion on interview is.....
 - i. An art
 - ii. Honest information
 - iii. An ordeal
 - iv. Development of personality
- c) The creator of 'Alice in Wonderland' is
 - i. G. H. Wells
 - ii. Kipling
 - iii. Denis Brian
 - iv. Lewis Carroll
- d) Kipling refused to be interviewed because according to him it is
 - i. A crime
 - ii. An assault
 - iii. Immoral
 - iv. All the three above.
- II. Answer the following questions briefly:
 - e) What do you understand by 'thumbprints on his wind pipe'?
 - f) What are the major view points on people on interviews?
 - g) How are the celebrities a victim of interviews?
 - h) What is one of the advantages of interviews?
 - i) Give two extravagant views / claims about interviews expressed by people.
 - j) In the present time, how do we get to know about our contemporaries?
 - k) Find words from the passage which means the same as each of the following: -
 - i. Lessens the authority, dignity or reputation (Para - 1)
 - ii. Refusing to give up (Para - 2)

PASSAGE - 4

Read the following passage carefully

(10 marks)

1. As religious people believing in God, we are all aware of the influence of prayer in our individual lives. It is true our temples, gurudwaras, churches and mosques reverberate with the prayers of the devout on festive occasions and even in the course of daily life. When individuals face dire situations, often they are led into prayer; their faith thus opens for them a source of comfort and encouragement in their hour of need.
2. But how does India as collective entity, exercise its faith in prayer? It may be recalled that during the freedom struggle and subsequently after Independence, the Father of the Nation used to lead the people in prayer on matters affecting its destiny. The men of different faiths used to take part in such meetings, which gave them a sense of purpose and also a sense of solidarity as people sharing one destiny.
3. Since the Mahatma fell to the bullets of an assassin, no one else probably came forward to provide leadership to an exercise of prayer at the national level. No doubt, people of all faiths had organized prayers at their places of worship in the aftermath of national tragedies like the Gujarat Earthquake of the Orissa cyclone. The hijacking of an Indian plane with its passengers of Kandahar in the recent past had moved this nation to pray.

The whole nation again had taken to prayers in mass on two other occasions when Amitabh Bachchan fell seriously on the sick bed.

4. Man's need for prayer is as great as his need for bread. As food is necessary for the body, prayer is necessary for the soul. I have not a shadow of doubt that the strife and quarrels with which our atmosphere is so full today are due to the absence of the spirit of true prayer. True prayer never goes unanswered," wrote Gandhiji. According to Vasudevan, Secretary of the Rajghat Samadhi Samiti, all-religion prayer meetings are held every Friday at Rajghat from 4 p.m. to 5.15 p.m.
5. It is said that the act of prayer changes people and situations. There is a general impression that prayer is an act of seeking favours from God for selfish ends. It is as if all praying people are only interested in taking their shopping lists to their Maker!

For from it, the very act of praying teaches one to sympathize with those who suffer. It broadens one's vision and outlook. It builds up one's character by imparting a sense of responsibility towards other people and situations.

6. The latest example of a praying nation comes from the United States which is often labelled as too materialistic. Speaking at the national Prayer Breakfast at Washington in the second week of February, President George Bush praised Americans of all faiths for turning to prayer in the wake of the September 11 terrorist attacks. He said he had spent much time 'one bended knee' since terrorists attacked the World Trade Centre and the Pentagon, killing more than 3000 people.

7. Regardless of the religious affiliations, people in the affected areas showed an exemplary sense of togetherness in the hour of tragedy. All differences of religion, ethnicity, race and language were forgotten as volunteers got busy assuaging the pain and sorrow felt by the victims. The American example has several lessons for India which is also a pluralistic society. It has demonstrated that differences of religion and ethnicity need not stand in the way of the nation unitedly facing all its challenges. If it is true that all religious faiths teach tolerance, humility and the value of helping neighbours, then the religious leaders of this nation could also engender unity and oneness of purpose by coming together periodically to pray for the nation. And when they focus on the fact that all people, regardless of their differences share one common destiny, there could be greater communal harmony. Such a consciousness ought to pave the way for peace in society.

PASSAGE - 5

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

(10 marks)

1. Nuclear capability gives a status to the country in the community of nations. No nation can afford to make destructive use of the nuclear energy without risking a World War. That is why America did not make use of nuclear weapon in the Vietnam War though it had become a matter of prestige for her. Similarly Russia preferred to pull out her missile bases from Cuba instead of coming in direct conflict with a nuclear power, America. But India, since she started adopting nuclear technology, had decided to make only peaceful use of nuclear energy. The fear expressed by Pakistan and the comments made in the Chinese press are more for the sake of propaganda than for the projection of truth.
2. India needs nuclear energy in order to meet her power shortage. She has been depending upon hydroelectric power which is undependable because of the uncertainty of rainfall. Good quality of coal which is another source of energy cannot be extracted commercially because it lies very deep and the cost of extraction is very high. India is not producing much of oil, rather she has to import nearly 74 per cent of her total consumption. So the only alternative with India is to have a cheaper and more dependable source of energy. The known reserves of thorium in India are sufficient to last many hundred years. That is why India has already commissioned two nuclear power stations, one at Tarapur and the other at Rana Pratap Sagan. Each one has the installed capacity of producing 420 M.W. of electricity. Two other at Kalpakkam, are operational. This energy will be able to meet the power shortage throughout the country. If industries work at their full capacity, production will be higher and so per capita income will increase and inflation will be neutralized.
3. With the help of controlled nuclear explosions, artificial dams can be made. In fact for building a dam there should be two huge mountain walls enclosing a deep valley just near the course of a river. These conditions are not available at all the places. So with the help of controlled nuclear explosions mountains can be blown up. This can also help in laying roads in the mountainous areas. In fact, some of the borders of India have mountainous terrain and the movement of the army is quite difficult. So even for the sake of national security it is necessary to have roads in those areas.
4. With the help of radiation the shelf life of vegetables and fruits can be increased. In the tropical countries like India, it is necessary that the perishable fruit stuffs are preserved for a long time. Radiation can check the sprouting of onions and potatoes which are much in demand in foreign countries. Similarly fruits like bananas and mangoes which have much export potential can be preserved for a very long time. The texture and taste of the fruit do not undergo any change.
5. Nuclear technology can also be harnessed for medical purposes. It is said that radioactive iodine is used for detecting the disease of the thyroid glands. Similarly, India of U.N. experts, radiated vaccine which can immunize sheep from lungworm disease, which used to take a heavy toll of sheep every year.

6. Properly processed nuclear fuel is also used for artificial satellite in space. Weather satellites can predict cyclones and the rainfall with extreme accuracy. Communication satellites can help in conveying the messages to very long distances. In a huge country like India, communication satellites are necessary.
7. Radiation is also used for preparing the mutant seeds. Many varieties of rice and some cereals have been prepared at Tarapur laboratory. This will increase our agricultural production and help India to become economically better off. So for India it is necessary to make peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

I. On the basis of your reading of the passage, answer the following questions by choosing the most appropriate option.

(1x2=2 marks)

1. India needs nuclear energy in order to _____
 - (a) gain status in the community of nations
 - (b) meet her power shortage
 - (c) increase her might
 - (d) frighten the hostile countries
2. Coal, another source of energy, cannot be extracted commercially because _____
 - (a) it lies very deep
 - (b) the cost of extraction is very high
 - (c) it lies very deep and the cost of extraction is very high
 - (d) it is risky for the miners to extract it

II. Answer the following questions as briefly as possible.

(1x6=6 marks)

3. Why does India need nuclear energy?
4. How can radiation be helpful?
5. How does nuclear technology help in the field of medicine?
6. In what way can nuclear energy boost our communication?
7. How can nuclear energy help the country in its economic growth?
8. How can radiation help in the field of agriculture?

Passages for Note Making

PASSAGE-1

Read the passage given below:

The construction of the Leaning Tower of Pisa began in August 1173.

It was interrupted several times by wars, debt and while engineers worked on solutions to correct the lean. We now know that without these interruptions that allowed the soil to compress under the tower, it would have certainly toppled over.

Pisa Tower was eventually completed in the mid-1300s.

The Tower of Pisa is the churches bell tower. The city of Pisa was at the beginning a simple but important Italian seaport. With its growth, so did its religious buildings.

Its fame and power grew gradually over the years, as the people of Pisa were involved in various military conflicts and trade agreements.

The Pisans attacked the city of Palermo on the island of Sicily in 1063. The attack was successful and the conquerors returned to Pisa with a great deal of treasure.

To show the world just how important the city was, the people of Pisa decided to build a great cathedral complex, the Field of Miracles. The plan included a cathedral, a baptistery, a bell tower (the Tower of Pisa) and a cemetery.

The real identity of Tower of Pisa's architects is a mystery.

The most accredited architects of this first phase of work are Bonanno Pisano and Gherardo din Gherardo.

The second phase of construction started in 1275, and the work is attributed to Giovanni di Simone. Tommaso Pisano (1350-1372) was the architect who finished the work.

The leaning of the Tower of Pisa comes into the story in 1173, when construction began.

Thanks to the soft ground, it had begun to lean by the time its builders got to the third story, in 1178. Shifting soil had destabilized the tower's foundations.

Over the next 800 years, it became clear the 55-metre tower wasn't just leaning but was actually falling at a rate of one to two millimeters per year.

Today, the Leaning Tower of Pisa is more than five meters off perpendicular.

Its architect and engineer tried to correct this by making the remaining stories shorter on the uphill side - but to no avail. It kept leaning more and more.

The lean, first noted when three of the tower's eight stories had been built, resulted from the foundation stones being laid on soft ground consisting of clay, fine sand and shells.

The next stories were built slightly taller on the short side of the tower in an attempt to compensate for the lean. However, the weight of the extra floors caused the edifice to sink further and lean more.

- (b) Write a summary of the passage above in about 80 Words.

The construction of the Leaning Tower of Pisa began in August 1173 under Bonanno Pisano and Gherardo. Though there were many interruptions but they were proved to be a boon later as it compressed the soft soil beneath the tower. The Tower (belltower) was built to show their importance to the world. The real identity of the architects of this Tower still remains a mystery. While making of the tower architects tried their best to stop it's leaning but all efforts proved to be futile and finally Tommaso Pisano completed it as The Leaning Tower of Pisa.

PASSAGE-2

Read the passage given below:

A difference in opinions, values, attitudes and lifestyle among people of different ages is called 'generation gap'. Due to these differences, people belonging to different generations find themselves unable to relate to each other. This communication gap between successive generations is not a new phenomenon. The fight between the old and the young is not new and has been bound in the culture of every nation of the world. Parents and children across the world have been facing this problem. Due to fast-paced modern lifestyles, parents and children hardly find time together. The children, thus unable to express their thoughts and ideas to their parents, turn to friends for advice who are as inexperienced as they are. In the era of globalization and liberalization, the gap between the young the old reached its zenith.

Today's children are born into a competitive world and have a struggle to get everything. Many a time their true potential gets overshadowed in the rat race. Parents- burdened by the expectations of the society- end up forcing certain subjects and careers and lives that their parents have chosen for them, children are left lost and confused. Parents, on the other hand, feel that in this rapidly changing society where everyone is so self-centered, it is their duty to protect their children. Parents tend to feel that their children require guidance. This cannot be denied. But their constant monitoring makes children feel oppressed and they tend to turn rebellious.

Thus, generation gap is destroying the basic human relationship and is obviously a threat to the social stability of family relations. It is essential for parents to talk to their children and treat them as individuals. To be forever treated as child can be irritating and sometimes even humiliating. Children, in turn, must reciprocate with due respect and attention. Matters such as career, lifestyle and sensitive issues like freedom of choice of friends must be dealt with carefully and with maturity. Love and understanding are the best antidotes to this ever-widening generation gap. Only then will children look up to their parents and parents will not be burdened with their guilt of not being there for their children in their hour of need. In this way generation gap can at least be narrowed, if not completely filled.

PASSAGE-3

Read the passage given below:

'Thoda' is martial art form of Himachal Pradesh, India relies on one's talent with the bow and arrow. The name 'Thoda' is derived from the round piece of wood fixed to the head of the arrow. Its history is traced back to the days of Mahabharata when bows and arrows were used in the epic battles between the Pandavas and the Kauravas while residing in the beautiful valleys of Kulu and Manali. Thus, this martial art has its origins in Kulu. The equipment required for this game are bows and arrows.

In Himachal Pradesh, in the olden days, the game of Thoda was organized in a very interesting way. A handful of village folks would go to another village and throw tree leaves into the village well before sunrise. They would then hide in the bushes nearby, just outside the village. As soon as the villagers came to draw water the youths would shout and challenge them for a fight.

Held on Baisakhi Day, the competition is a mixture of martial art, cultural event and sport. Community prayers are organized to invoke the blessings of the Gods. The archers are divided into teams called Saathi and Pashi. The archers in this game have to aim at the leg region, below the knee.

On reaching the village fairground, both the teams dance on either side of the ground. Both the opponents face each other at a distance of about 10 meters and prepare to attack. Very quick and easy movements are the only methods of defence. The whole competition is conducted to the lively rhythm of war dance with one side furiously sidestepping, legs kicking in all directions, and other side doing its best to place an arrow on the target. There are minus points for a strike on the wrong parts of the leg.

Presently, the game is played in a marked court, which ensures that a certain degree of discipline is maintained in Thoda -a happy blend of culture and sport.

- (b) Write a summary of the passage above in about 80 Words.

PASSAGE-5

Read the passage given below:

My Dear Little Fellow,

You are now going to settle at school, and may consider this as your first entrance into the world. As my health is so indifferent, and I may not be with you long, I wish to leave you some advice (the best I can) for your conduct in life, both that it may be of use to you, and as something to remember me by. I may at least be able to caution you against my own errors, if nothing else.

As we went along to your new place of destination, you often repeated that "you durst say they were a set of stupid, disagreeable people," meaning the people at the school. You were to blame in this. It is a good old rule to hope for the best. Always, my dear, believe things to be right, till you find them the contrary; and even then, instead of irritating yourself against them, endeavour to put up with them as well as you can, if you cannot alter them. You said, "You were sure you should not like the school where you were going." This was wrong. What you meant was that you did not like to leave home. But you could not tell whether you should like the school or not, till you had given it a trial. Otherwise your saying that you should not like it was determining that you would not like it. Never anticipate evils, or, because you cannot have everything exactly as you wish, make them out worse than they are, through more spite and willfulness.

You seemed at first to take no notice of your school-fellows, or rather to set yourself against them, because they were strangers to you. They knew as little of you as you did of them; so that this would have been a reason for their keeping aloof from you as well, which you would have felt as a hardship. Learn never to conceive a prejudice against others, because you know nothing of them. It is bad reasoning, and makes enemies of half the world. Do not think ill of them, till they behave ill to you; and then strive to avoid the faults which you see in them. This will disarm their hostility sooner than pique or resentment or complaint.

I thought you were disposed to criticize the dress of some of the boys as not so good as your own. Never despise any one for anything that he cannot help -- least of all, for his poverty. I would wish you to keep up appearances yourself as a defence against the idle sneers of the world, but I would not have you value yourself upon them. I hope you will neither be the dupe nor victim of vulgar prejudices. Instead of saying above -- "Never despise any one for anything that he cannot help" -- I might have said, "Never despise any one at all"; for contempt implies a triumph over and pleasure in the ill of another. It means that you are glad and congratulate yourself on their failings or misfortunes. The sense of inferiority in others, without this indirect appeal to our self-love, is a painful feeling, and not an exulting one.

FORMAL INVITATIONS AND REPLIES

Invitations are extended to relatives, friends, acquaintances and clients on a number of social occasions like marriages, births, engagements, deaths or other public functions.

Invitations are of two types. - 1) Formal Invitations 2) Informal Invitation

While formal invitations are sent for the above mentioned occasions, many people also send a handwritten informal invitation beforehand to make these occasions more personal, cordial and intimate as is appropriate to their relationship.

Replying to invitations is essential. It is an essential courtesy to the host who has extended an invitation and also helps the host know how many guests will arrive so that he/she may make arrangements accordingly.

Like the invitations, replies to invitations also may be:-

- formal replies
- Informal replies

Formal Invitations:-

Formal invitations are sent in official capacity for public functions except in the case of Marriage/Anniversaries.

- A simple yet elegant printed card is preferred.
- Invitations are written in the third person.
Example:- Mr. and Mrs. S Surendran request the pleasure of the company of Mr. and Mrs. Rajkumar.....
- Note that the English etiquette requires the husband's name to be written first.
Example:- Mr and Mrs G Joseph
- Avoid use of abbreviations for the names of guests, days, dates. However, the abbreviations RSVP. (Repondez s'il vous plait) which means 'Please Reply' is put at the bottom.
- The subject matter is written in the centre setting. Details like address, dress code or any other instructions are written at the bottom to the left or the right as per choice or convenience.

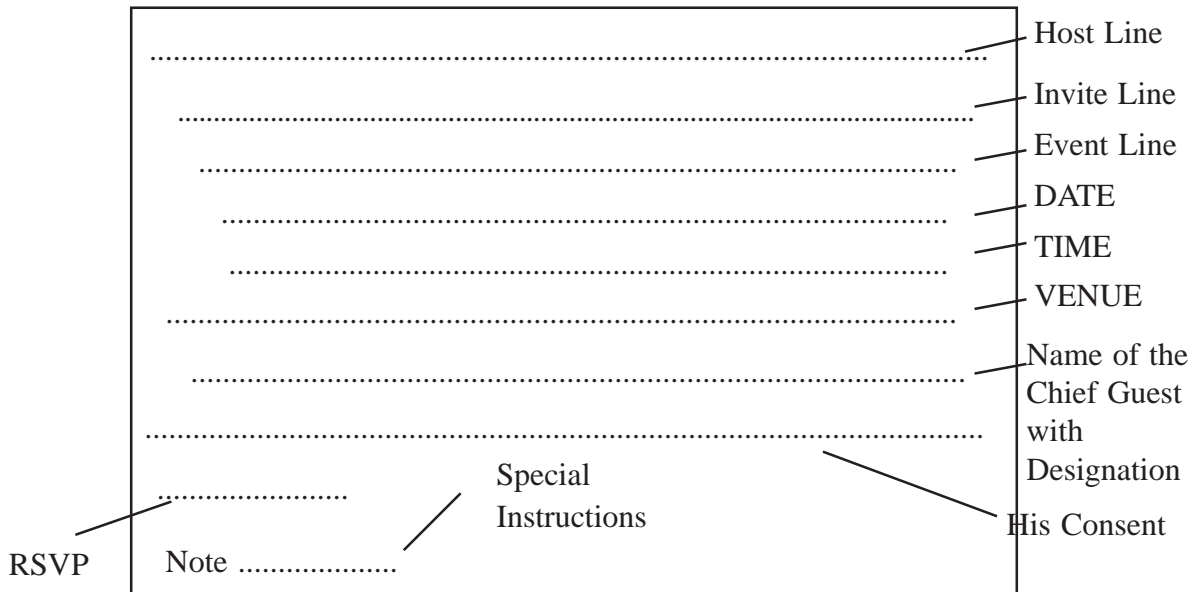

Important Points

The invitation is laid out so that each of the following is in a separate line:

- the name(s) of the host (s) issuing the invitation
- the standard expression 'request the pleasure of the company of
- the reason for the invitation.
- the time and date of the event.
- the venue of event
- In case a VIP is to be invited (at an official function), his/her name appears prominently
- In case of Printed cards, the name of the invitee may not figure in the invitation.
- The date of issuing the invitation is not mentioned.
- No punctuation is required at the end of a line.
- The simple present tense is used.

FORMAT OF FORMAL INVITATIONS

LETTER WRITING

FORMAL LETTERS

Formal Letters have a variety of purposes. Formal Letters are written to:

- Ask for/give information
- Apply for a job
- Make inquiries
- Register complaints about inadequate goods or services
- Place orders/send appropriate replies
- Apologize for behaviour
- Solicit new customers for grievances
- Persuade others
- Make an appeal for help
- Send a recommendation

However, all of these letters have a common goal, which is to get the results you want from someone you may or may not know personally.

IMPORTANT POINTS

- The formal letter is written in formal language. Try to avoid starting with 'I'. Keep sentence short and to the point. Do not use contractions.
- End with a short sentence that anticipates the response of the addressee.
- The tone in formal letter is polite and impersonal.
- Use passive voice where possible.
- Be brief and to the point; do not beat about the bush.
- Be clear and specific; state the purpose clearly and concisely.
- Be positive and polite even if you are writing a complaint. Remember on the receiving end of your letter is a human being!

Business letters

These include:

- (i) Letters of enquiry/asking for information
- (ii) Replying to enquiry/giving information
- (iii) Placing orders and sending replies
- (iv) Cancelling orders

A business letter is the basic means of communication between two companies. It is a document typically sent externally to those outside a company, but is also sent internally to those within a company.

A business letter should be written whenever you need a permanent record that you have sent the information requested for, because business letters are generally sent to other professionals. A formal salutation and closing must be added.

They are different from personal letters in form, tone and content. Most business letters have a formal tone as opposed to the informal, friendly or personal tone, content and style of the personal letter. The treatment of the subject has to be simple, systematic and formal.

IMPORTANT POINTS

- begin by identifying yourself
- clearly state the purpose of writing
- give relevant details
- make a request for appropriate action
- be positive and polite - even if you are making a complaint
- use polite language and a pleasant tone
- Quote reference numbers, order number, cheque/demand draft number, file numbers, etc.
- convey message briefly and in a straightforward manner

Official Letters

These include:

- i. Letters of complaint
- ii. Making inquiries
- iii. Making requests/appeals

Official letters are written to various public or civil servants who generally head their respective departments, sections, branches or zones.

Important points

- Show due respect but do not flatter or sound too servile
- Clearly state the purpose of writing
- Use polite language and a pleasant tone

Letters to the Editors

These letters give suggestions/create awareness on an issue of public interest or an issue already raised in an article/write-up/published letter.

Important Points

- Begin with reference to the recent development/event/issue
- Give details of the topic bringing out cause-effect relationship
- Offer suggestions/solutions
- Do not ask the editor to solve the problem as he can only voice your views and ideas.

Job Applications

These types of letters demand a very formal and precise treatment. Their format is almost the same as that of the forwarding cover letter and is usually accompanied by a curriculum vitae/resume. The curriculum vitae/resume ought to include the name, address, name, date of birth, educational qualifications, experience, hobbies, expected salary and signature.

EXAMPLE

Letter of complaint

Address of the Addressee	The Proprietor New Cable Services M G Road Sagar
Subject - Statement	Subject: Complaint against Cable Services
Salutation	Dear Mr. Singh I am writing this letter on behalf of around 350 cable subscribers belonging to Army Apartments, C G Road Sagar, who are very dissatisfied with your services. The association has previously complained of low unclear sound, blurred images and distortion of colours which have not been addressed so far. And now the unreasonable increase in monthly subscription without corresponding improvement in transmission is causing dissatisfaction among the residents. The complaints to the cable operator posted in the colony has fallen on deaf ears. In spite of paying full subscription the residents have access to only limited channels. Kindly take note of the complaints, otherwise the society will be forced to adhere to the member's demand to cancel the subscription.
Complimentary	Yours sincerely

SOLVED QUESTION

Q1.Over the past few years there has been constant rise in Coaching Institutes and private tuition centers all over India .Write an article in about 150-200 words highlighting the exploitation of young minds that seek sincere counseling and proper direction. You are Mahesh/Mita a student of class XII of Indira Public school, Gwalior.

Coaching institutes Exploit Students

By Mita, ClassXII

Coaching institutes have mushroomed in every nook and corner of a city over the past few years. These so called" temples of learning" are exploiting the young minds just for their financial gains. The misleading advertisements given by these Institutes act as Magnets to attract the innocent, inexperienced students, who are seeking for sincere counselling and proper direction.

Most private tuition centers and coaching institutes treat students just as commodities, instead of providing them proper direction in their scholarly pursuits and giving them individual attention they leave them to their fate. The counsellor who is appointed to these institutes is assigned the task of filling the unpopular coaching programmes with more students so that the institution can maximize its profits, irrespective of whether that particular programme suits the student or not.

These Coaching Institutions take advantage of the ignorance of the illiterate Parents by advising them to enroll their weak child in a "crash" course whereas he needs to join the long term coaching programme for being successful in life. The sole purpose of these institutions are to fill their coffers with money, not to look into the well-being of these students, who are the future assets of the nation. These institutions are like the " termites" making the nation's future hollow.

The Education Department of the Government should be vigilant and stop these Coaching Institutes from exploiting the innocent students. Stringent laws should not only be made to stop these institutes from spreading their tentacles in the society but the guilty who are playing with the future of the students should be brought to task.

DEBATE/SPEECH

The purpose of making a debate/ speech is to convey information orally to a large gathering of people strongly and convincingly.

FORMAT Includes the topic (For/Against) SALUTATION, greeting the chief guest and fellow speakers or listeners.

SPEECH: must reflect CLARITY of thought, accuracy of facts and balanced view.

At the end write "THANK YOU".

Follow the word limit.

Solved example(DEBATE):

BRAIN DRAIN IS NOT ABANE FOR DEVELOPING COUNTY LIKE INDIA (AGAINST)

Honorable Judges, my worthy opponents and dear students,

Today I, Abha of class XII, will speak against the motion," "Brain drain is not bane for a developing country like India."

I would like to draw the attention of my worthy opponents to the fact that India is a developing nation and a lot of money is spent on the education and paid as subsidies to the students of Engineering and Medical but it is ironical that these students after completion of their studies instead of serving their Motherland go away to foreign countries to earn more money. This is indeed a great national loss because the expense incurred on their education comes from the taxes submitted by the common people. The present statistical data reveals the fact the number of students leaving the country and going abroad has nearly doubled. I'm sure and confident that my honorable opponents will do some souls searching!

Those in favour of the motion have highlighted the view that brain drain has brought prestige to the Nation, I strongly disagree, in my opinion brain drain is a great loss of talent of our Nation .Had these talented Engineers Doctors stayed behind the people of our Motherland would have benefitted immensely, the day would not be far when she would once again be called the "Golden Bird".

The drifting away of the intelligent people has left our country poor and benefitted another country. To conclude I would once again firmly say that Brain drain is a bane for a developing country like India.

SOLVED EXAMPLE-SPEECH:

Q1. Write a speech in 150-200 words on the topic, "Discipline shapes the future of a student. "It is to be delivered in the morning assembly. You are Karuna/Karan.

Respected Principal, teachers, and dear friends,

Today I, Karuna, am here to express my views on, "Discipline shapes the future of a student."

We are all aware of the fact that Discipline is the key to success. Discipline should be inculcated early in life. If we are disciplined in life we inculcate a sense of duty and obedience. Let me give you an example to prove my point, every day we are assigned homework by our teachers, if we are disciplined we complete the work within the stipulated time we get the appreciation of our teachers and also do well in the examinations.

Discipline is essential in all walks of life. Right from the working of the Government of the country to the ordinary farmer who tills his field all follow discipline .It is the bed rock of character .Absence of it leads to chaos and confusion. Imagine a day on the road when people do not follow the traffic rules. Can you imagine the utter chaos it will lead to! So Discipline is essential in running the society smoothly.

A person can reach the pinnacles of glory by following discipline. It acts as a restraint and at the same time builds self- confidence. Moreover it balances the personality of a person and inculcates good work ethics.

- listened attentively
- teacher taught dedicatedly

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS:-

1. Franz's attitude towards school as well towards M. Hamel changes when he comes to know about the takeover of his village by Prussians. Discuss with reference to the Last Lesson.

Ans. On arriving at school, Franz noted an unusual silence. His teacher M. Hamel was dressed nicely and asked Franz to sit so that he could start his lesson. The teacher made a startling announcement that this would be their last lesson in French as the new teacher would be arriving the following day. He reiterated about an order from Berlin that German was to be taught in schools of Alsace and Lorraine. Franz was overcome with a feeling of remorse and regretted wasting his time in trivial pursuits. He decided to pay attention to the lesson since school had become very important for him. He began to realize the real worth of his school as well as of the teacher whom they had all taken for granted all these years. Now M. Hamel became a good teacher for him rather than a boring one. For him, the teacher seemed to be a good gentleman who was leaving the village on that day. Thus, there developed a specific liking to study history and grammar in Franz since on that day M. Hamel put all his heart and soul in teaching.

2. The day of the Last Lesson was full of regret and sadness. Describe the events of the day in the classroom in the light of above remark.

Ans. Hints- Alsace and Lorraine taken over by the Prussians

- directive from Berlin to teach German in schools
- the people shocked at the news
- remorse expression on the missed classes by M. Hamel
- his reproach on the elders attitude
- stress on the importance of French language and keeping it alive
- the last lesson made memorable by M. Hamel

3. What did the French teacher tell his students in his last French lesson? What impact did it have on them?

Ans. Hints - French language most beautiful, clearest and logical language

- people must guard it and keep it alive
- their language would be like a key to their freedom
- village elders became emotional and repentant
- they became respectful for their language and its teacher

4. Why did Franz start very late that morning for school? How did he resist his momentary thoughts of running away and spend the day outdoors?

Ans. Hints- Franz dreaded grammar lesson and scolding from the teacher

- pleasant and warm morning
- birds chirping outside
- drill of the Prussian soldiers
- resisted the temptation because of his virtues

5. How does the presence of village elders in the classroom and M. Hamel's last Lesson show their love for French Language?

Ans. Hints- old men of the village sitting quietly at the back of classroom

- sad as well as sorry for not having gone to school more often.

- came to thank master for forty years of faithful service and to show respect for a country that was theirs no more
- regretted neglecting their language
- M. Hamel explained everything patiently
- appealed to people to preserve 'French'
- holding on to their language will keep them united

LONG-ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. Why was Gandhi summoned to appear in the court? How did civil disobedience triumph for the first time in India?

Ans. Gandhi had reached Motihari, the capital of Champaran, to study the problems of the sharecropper peasants. He was on his way to a neighbouring village, where a peasant was ill-treated. On the way, he was stopped by the police superintendent's messenger and ordered to return to town. When he reached home, he was served with an official notice to quit Champaran at once. Gandhi wrote on the receipt that he would disobey the order. So Gandhi received a summon to appear in the court the next day.

Next morning the town of Motihari was black with peasants. Thousands of peasants demonstrated voluntarily outside the court. The prosecutor requested the judge to postpone the trial. Gandhi protested against the delay. He read out the statement pleading guilty. He asked the penalty. The judge announced that he would pronounce the sentence after a two-hour recess. He asked Gandhi to furnish bail for that period. Gandhi refused. The judge released him without bail. After the recess, the judge said that he would not deliver the judgement for several days. Meanwhile he allowed Gandhi to remain at liberty.

Several days later Gandhi received a letter. The case against him had been dropped. Thus, civil disobedience had triumphed, for the first time in India.

Q2. How did Gandhi work for rural upliftment during his stay in Champaran?

Hint- Gandhi ji appealed for teachers and doctors

Primary schools were opened

Mrs Kasturba Gandhi and several other volunteers helped - Narhari Parikh, Mahadev Desai, Devdas (Youngest son of Gandhi) personal and community cleanliness stressed

Poem 3

KEEPING QUIET

- By Pablo Neruda (1904-1973)

THEME: Necessity of quiet introspection and creating mutual understanding among humans. Emphasis on meditation.

Main Points

1. The poet requests readers to keep quiet till he counts up to twelve
2. He requests us not to use any language and move our arms so much for a while as it will become a hurdle in keeping quiet.
3. When there is no rush; no movement and noise of engines, the threat of sudden strangeness will tie all of us together into an exotic moment
4. This will bring about relief to the fishermen in cold sea and the salt gatherer also will be able to look after their injured bleeding hands.
5. A good sense will also prevail on the war-mongers as they will understand the futility of the same
6. When environment is in jeopardy; human-existence is threatened on the earth, the survivor of the war will face fatal consequences.
7. Such war-mongers are also exhorted to put on clean clothes and walk about with their brothers
8. The poet urges us not to mistake inactivity advocated by him for death.
9. He clarifies that single-minded indulgence in the rat-race of self-centered goals leading to materialism is unwarranted.
10. Keeping quiet and discharging our duties peacefully will evolve better understanding in us.
11. The achievement of mental peace will lead us to introspection and mutual understanding. The absence of these two traits amounts to various conflicts in the world.
12. With the development of mutual understanding comes empathy and then our life becomes a pleasant experience.
13. The poet says like the earth the potentials may not be exhibited all the time.
14. Finally, he declares his departure while persuading us to keep quiet.

C-Extracts with questions-

- 1- It would be an exotic moment
 Without rush, without engines,
 We would all be together
 In a sudden strangeness.

Q- i Name the poem and the poet?

ii-What is the exotic moment referred above?

iii-What will 'sudden strangeness' result from?

iv-What is the advantage of the exotic moment?

2- Perhaps the earth can teach us

As when everything seems dead

And later proves to be alive.

Now I will count up to twelve

And you keep quiet and I will go.

Q-i What can the earth teach us?

ii- What does the 'counting upto twelve' signify?

iii-What does the poet expect us to do?

Short Answer Questions

1- What is the result of not speaking and not moving our arms so much?

2- How does the poet suggest us to keep quiet?

3- How will 'keeping quiet' benefit the mankind?

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. How can you say that Dr Sadao's father was a Japanese to the core?

Ans. Dr Sadao's father had high dreams about the future of Japan. There was no limit of their future as it depended on what they made it. He never played or joked with his only son. But he spent infinite pains upon him. For the sake of the best possible medical education, he sent his son to America. Sadao met Hana there, but waited to fall in love until he was sure that she was a Japanese. His father would never have received her unless she had been pure in her race. Their marriage was arranged in the old Japanese way only after Sadao's father had seen her when both of them had come home to Japan after finishing their education.

He was Japanese every inch. The floor of his room was deeply matted. He would never sit on chair or sleep in a foreign bed in his house. The quilt was covered with flowered silk and the lining was pure white silk. In short, everything here had been Japanese to please him.

Q2. What was the dilemma that Sadao faced when he saw a wounded, young white man washed to his doorstep? What solution did his wife, Hana, offer to resolve his predicament?

Hint - young man needed treatment

Helping American they could be arrested

They could hand him over to police

As a doctor Sadao could not let him die

Hana suggested helping the man

Q3. Hana was a loving, caring, devoted and obedient wife who was quite anxious about her husband's wellbeing, position and reputation? Discuss.

Hint - Hana understood her husband very well

Sentimental, pragmatic approach

Maintained her dignity

Devoted wife

Ideal life partner

Hint - Brave and Obedient

Intelligent and hardworking

Surgeon and scientist

Sensitive and helpful

Real doctor

Q5. Comment on the role of the General in the story 'The Enemy'.

Hint - Suffering from attack

Needed operation any time

Have faith on Sadao

Promised to help Sadao

Offered assassins

Forgot his promise

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. How did Zitkala-Sa find the 'Eating by formula' a hard trial?

Ans. She did not know what to do when the various bells were tapped and behaved unlike others. When the first bell rang, she pulled out her chair and sat in it. As she saw others standing, she began to rise. She looked shyly around to see how chairs were used. When the second bell was sounded, she had to crawl back into her chair. She looked around when a man was speaking at the end of the hall. She she dropped her eyes when she found the paleface women looking at her. After the third bell, others started eating, but she began to cry.

Q2. Why do you think, was Zitkala-Sa so opposed to cutting of her hair?

Hint - heard her mother - Short hair to mourn the death

Hair shingled of enemy

She was neither a mourner nor a coward

Q3. What did Zitkala-Sa feel when her long hair was cut.

Hint - lost her spirit

People stared at her

She moaned for her mother

Q4. Name some of the novelties and oddities in the street that attracted Bama?

Hint - the performing monkey

The cyclist

The Maariyaata temple

Pongal offerings

Hint - A big man

Carrying small packet by string

Manner of walking

Q6. How did Bama react on learning about untouchability?

Hint - behaviour of upper caste to low caste

Felt provoked and angry

Wanted to touch those vadais

Q7. What advice did Annan offer Bama? What was the result?

Hint - study and learn with care

Followed advice

Studied hard

Stood first in class

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. Why did Zitkala-Sa feel oppressed in new establishment?

Ans. Since the day, the author was taken away from her mother, she had suffered extreme indignities. People had stared at her. She had been tossed about in the air like wooden puppet. Her blanket had been removed from her shoulders. She felt that she was immodestly dressed. She was so shocked and oppressed that she felt like sinking to the floor. Later, her soft moccasins were taken away. These were traditional footwear of local Indian American. They were replaced by squeaking shoes. She saw other Indian girls in stiff shoes and tightly sticking dresses. The small girls wore sleeved aprons and shingled hair. The worst dignity she suffered was the cutting of her long hair. The coward's shingled hair made her moan with anguish. She felt she was not a human being but one of the little animals driven by a herder. The systematic erosion of their culture and disrespect to women was quite oppressive.

Q2. "I will not submit! I will struggle!" Says Zitkala-Sa. What was she going to resist and why? What efforts did she make and what was the outcome?

Hint - short hair worn by mourners, shingled by cowards

Cutting hair against their tradition

Hid herself in dark room

Resisted cutting her hair

Cried aloud

Q3. How did Bama react to the threshing proceedings in a corner of their street and the spectacle of a big man carrying a packet by its string?

Hint - people working with cattle

Saw a big man

Manner of walking

Carrying small packet with string

Extended the packet to landlord

Whole scene funny

Q4. How did Bama's brother explain the elder's behavior to her? What was her immediate reaction?

Hint - lower caste must not touch upper caste people

Felt terribly sad

She felt provoked and angry

They were too human beings

Must not do petty jobs for miserly rich upper caste

NOVEL
THE INVISIBLE MAN
BY H.G. WELLS

About the Author

Herbert George Wells (21 September 1866-13 August 1946)- known as H.G. Wells- was Born in England in 1866, H.G. Wells's parents were shopkeepers in Kent, England. His first novel, The Time Machine was an instant success and Wells produced a series of science fiction novels which pioneered our ideas of the future. His later work focused on satire and social criticism. Wells laid out his socialist views of human history in his Outline of History. He died in 1946.

Setting

England in the 1890's. Iping and the surrounding area Much of the action initially occurs around or in a couple of pubs and an inn, thus taking advantage of the natural opportunity for people to spread rumors, speculate on mysterious issues, and expand on each other's stories.

About The Novel

The invisible Man is a science fiction novella by H.G. Wells published in 1897. Originally serialized in Pearsons Weekly in 1897, It was published as a novel the same year. The invisible Man of the title is Griffin, a scientist who has devoted him self to research in to optics and invents a way to change a bodys refractive index to that of air so that it absorbs and reflects no light and thus becomes invisibles. He successfully carries out this procedure on himself, but fails in his attempt to reverse the procedure.

While its predecessors, The Time Machine and The Island of Doctor Moreau, were written using first person narrators, wells adopt a third person plot summary objective point of view in The Invisible man.

Plot Summary

A mysterious stranger, Griffin, arrives at the local inn of the English village of Iping, West Sussex, thick coat and gloves, his face hidden entirely by bandages except for a fake pink nose and a wide- brimmed hat. He is excessively reclusive, irascible and unfriendly. He demands to be left alone and spend most of his time in his rooms working with a set of chemicals and laboratory apparatus, only venturing out at night. While staying at the inn, hundreds of strange glass bottles arrive that Griffin calls his luggage. Many local townspeople believe this to be very strange.

He become the talk of the village (one of the novels most charming aspects is its portrayal of small town life in Southern England, which the author knew from first hand experience).

Meanwhile, a mysterious burglary occurs in the village. Griffin has run out of money and is trying to find a way to pay for his lodging. When his landlady demands he pay his bill and accuses him burglary, he reveals part of his invisibility to her in a fit of pique. An attempt to apprehend the stranger is frustrated when he undresses to take advantage of his invisibility; fights off his would be captors and flees to the downs.

There Griffin coerces a tramp, Thomas Marvel, into becoming his assistant. With Marvel, he returns to the village to recover three notebooks that contain records of his experiments. When Marvel attempts to betray the Invisible Man and run away with his most prized possessions, Griffin chases him to the seaside town of Port Burdock, threatening to kill him. Marvel escapes to a local inn and is saved by the people at the inn, but Griffin escapes. Marvel later goes to the police and tells them of this invisible Man, then requests to be locked up in a high security jail.

Griffins' furious attempt to avenge his betrayal leads to his being shot. He takes shelter in a nearby house that turns out to belong to Dr Kemp a former acquaintance from medical school. To Kemp, he reveals his true identity; the Invisible Man is Griffin, a former medical student who left medicine to devote himself to optics. Griffin recounts how he invented procedure capable of rendering bodies invisible and on impulse, performed the procedure on himself.

Griffin tells Kemp of the story of how he became invisible. He explains how he tried the invisibility on a cat, then himself. Griffin burns down the boarding house he is staying in along with all his equipment he used to turn invisible to cover his tracks, but soon realizes he is ill-equipped to survive in the open. He attempts to steal food and clothes to survive in the open. He attempts to steal food and clothes from a large department store and eventually steals some clothing from a theatrical supply shop and heads to Iping to attempt to reverse the invisibility. But now he imagines that he can make Kemp his secret confederate, describing his plan to begin a "Reign of Terror" by using his invisibility to terrorise the nation.

Kemp has already denounced Griffin to the local authorities and is watching for help to arrive as he listens to this wild proposal. When the authorities arrive at Kemp's house, Griffin fights his way out and the next day leaves a note announcing that Kemp himself will be the first man to be killed in the "Reign of Terror". Kemp, a cool-headed character, tries to organize a plan to use himself as bait to trap The Invisible Man, but a note he sends is stolen from his servant by Griffin.

Griffin shoots and injures a local policeman who comes to Kemp's aid, then breaks into Kemp's house. Kemp bolts for the town, where the local citizenry comes to his aid. Griffin is seized, assaulted and killed by a mob. The Invisible Man naked, battered body gradually becomes visible as he dies. A local policeman shouts to cover his face with a sheet, then the book concludes.

In the epilogue, it is revealed that Marvel has secretly kept Griffin notes. He hopes of deciphering their mystery some day and gain godly powers.

Main Characters

1. Griffin

The Invisible Man. He is an albino college student who had changed his area of study from medicine to physics and had become interested in refractive indexes of tissue. During his studies he stumbled across formulas that would render tissue invisible. Eventually he tries the formula on himself, thinking of all the things he could do if he were invisible. Unfortunately, the conveniences are far outweighed by the disadvantages; Griffin turns to crime as a means of survival.

2. Mr. Marvel

The first character whom Griffin tries to use as an accomplice. Mr. Marvel is short, fat, and a loner. He is the area tramp. Griffin perhaps also thinks that he is a little stupid and will thus not be able to resist and will not be believed if he tries to tell anyone about his predicament.

3. Dr. Kemp

A former associate of Griffin's in his college days. Griffin had been a student and knew Kemp to be interested in bizarre, and idiosyncratic aspects of science. It is to Kemp's house that Griffin goes in his final attempt to find an accomplice and live a more normal life. Kemp, however, has no particular sense of loyalty to a former student and is not prepared to participate in Griffin's grand schemes. He is also more deceitful than Griffin knows and betrays the invisible man even while pretending to accept his confidences.

Minor Characters

1. The Halls

Proprietors of the Coach & Horses. Mrs. Hall is the one who is primarily in charge. She is happy enough to leave Griffin alone so long as her money is coming in on time. Her husband is more suspicious but does not interfere until Griffin's behavior starts to become obvious.

2. Teddy Henfrey

A clock repairman who happens to visit the inn for a cup of tea. Mrs. Hall takes advantage of him to try to find out about her strange guest. Because the stranger will not talk, Teddy convinces himself that the man is someone of a "suspicious" nature. Teddy begins the rumors about the man being wanted by the police and merely wrapping himself up to conceal his identity.

3. Fearenside

A cartman who delivers luggage from the station whenever he is needed. He notices darkness through a torn pant leg where there should be pink flesh and starts the stories of Griffin being either a black man or a piebald.

4. Cuss

A general practitioner who attempts to get an interview with Griffin. He is the first to realize he actually see emptiness where there should be flesh and bone. He also tells an outrageous story to his companion in town after Griffin terrifies him by pinching his nose with an invisible hand.

5. Mr. And Mrs. Bunting

Bunting is the vicar. Cuss takes his story to Bunting. The next evening Bunting and his wife hear noise in their house after they have gone to bed. They are able to hear someone sneeze, and their money disappears right before their eyes.

Other people in the town who appear briefly in the story but have no particular characterization:

1. Huxter; Wadgers

The blacksmith

2. Juffers

The village constable

3. The mariner; Colonel Adye

Chief of Burdock Police

Q-1 The author has been able to build up suspense about the protagonist in the opening chapter.

Ans-1 "The Invisible Man" is a science fiction novel and tells the story of a young scientist who experiments with invisibility and succeeds to an extent. However, this causes lot of problems for him and finally he loses his life in terrible circumstances.

Right from the time when a reader picks up the book, he enters in to the world of mystery and suspense. The book opens by relating how a mysterious strangers is strangely attired - completely covered from head to toe .Even his face is hidden .He is allowed to stay at the inn as a guest .When the landlady tries to help him by taking his outer clothes, she is brusquely shooed away. The stranger does not give his name. He is rude and does not want to talk to anyone. The only thing he wants is to be left alone in the parlour that he has booked for his exclusive use and not be disturbed .When Mrs.Hall gives him a meal and tries to take his hat, she gets to see by chance that the face of the guest is completely covered in bandages. No one knows who he is and from where he has come, or what his business is in lping

Q-2 Cuss's interview with the stranger ended on a dramatic note .Describe in detail what happened at the meeting.

Q-3 Describe the scene of burglary at the vicarage in detail. Who was the intruder and why did he steal the money?

Q-4 Describe the happenings at the inn (in Griffin's room) on whit Monday.

Q-5 Give an account of the scene when the stranger reveals himself before the crowd. Why do the people in the inn flee in horror?

Q-6 Narrate the episode of the first meeting of marvel with the invisible man.

Q-7 Mr.Cuss and Mr. Banting tried to play investigators, but Griffin humiliated them and still managed to escape with his three precious book .Elaborate.

Q-8 How did the people at the 'Jolly Cricketer' react when Mr. Marvel came running to them asking for refuge? What happened there later?

Q-9 What were Griffin's plans before meeting Dr. Kemp? How did they both met?

Q-10 Do you think that Griffin himself was responsible for his tragic end or the society forced him to turn against his own kind?

Q-11 What were the difficulties faced by Griffin to achieve his dream of invisibility? Were the ways adopted by him morally correct?

Q-12 Illustrate - is the ending of the novel "The invisible Man " happy and just? What is your reaction when Griffin gets to keep all the stolen money? Are you glad that the invisibility formula is hidden from Kemp, who could use it?

- Q-1 What impression do you form about "The Invisible Man"? is he able to gain the reader's sympathy?
- Ans-1 The invisible man was given many name names in the novel. At first, he was the stranger who arrived at Iping. Then, he was the voice that startled everybody. However, his real name was Griffin. Though he was the protagonist of the story, all his deeds were more like that of an antagonist. He was an eccentric scientist. Though he was a gifted scientist, he used his mind in a sinister way. He devised an experiment to become invisible and then started looting and murdering whoever came in his way. He was very irritable and impatient. He lost his temper over petty things and started hurting others. He had lost all sense of conscience and didn't feel sorry even after his burglary led to his father's death. Although he was lonely and seemed to have been misunderstood from time to time, he failed to gain sympathy due to his murderous rage and evil ways.
- Q-2 Mrs. Hall was a strong woman. However we see some flaws in her character. In the light of this statement attempt her character sketch.
- Q-3 'Curiosity killed that cat' How far is this statement correct in the case of Mr. Cuss?
- Q-4 Mr. Bunting was one of the educated members of the Iping village. What impression is he able to leave on the reader?

General Instructions:

- (i) This paper is divided into three sections: A, B, and C. All the sections are compulsory.
- (ii) Separate instructions are given with each section and questions, wherever necessary. Read these instructions very carefully and follow them faithfully.
- (iii) Do not exceed the prescribed word limit while answering the questions:

SECTION - A (READING)

Q.1 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

What are the good parts of our civilization? First and foremost there are order and safety. If today I have a quarrel with another man, I do not get beaten merely because I am physically weaker and he can kick me down. I go to law, and the law will decide as fairly as it can between the two of us. Thus in disputes between man and man right has taken the place of might. Moreover, the law protects me from robbery and violence. Nobody may come and break into my house, steal my goods or run off with my children. Of course, there are burglars, but they are very rare, and the law punishes them whenever it catches them.

It is difficult for us to realize how much this safety means. Without safety these higher activities of mankind which make up civilization could not go on. The inventor could not invent, the scientist find out or the artist make beautiful things. Hence, order and safety, although they are not themselves civilization are things without which civilization would be impossible. They are as necessary to our civilization as the air we breathe is to us; and we have grown so used to them that we do not notice them any more than we notice the air.

Another great achievement of our civilization is that today civilized men are largely free from the fear of pain. They still fall ill, but illness is no longer the terrible thing it used to be.... Not only do men and women enjoy better health; they live longer than they ever did before, and they have a much better chance of growing up.... Thirdly, our civilization is more secure than any that have gone before it. This is because it is much more widely spread.... Previous civilizations were specialized and limited, they were like oases in a desert.

1. What is the first merit of our civilization ?
 - (A) Material advancement
 - (B) Cultural advancement
 - (C) Development of science
 - (D) Order and safety
 - (E) Spiritualism has become a way of life

 - (A) Right
 - (B) Might
 - (C) Spiritualism
 - (D) Money
 - (E) None of these
4. The essential condition for the promotion of higher activities of life is:
 - (A) Dedication on the part of those who practise them
 - (B) Economic freedom
 - (C) Safety
 - (D) State support
 - (E) Encouragement and appreciation
5. What according to the author, is the second merit of the present civilization?
 - (A) Development of means of transport and communication
 - (B) Space research
 - (C) Freedom from drudgery
 - (D) Freedom from the fear of pain
 - (E) Mental enlightenment of the people
6. What according to the author has the freedom from the fear of pain led to ?

 - (C) The present civilization has provided more leisure
 - (D) The present civilization is more wide spread in the sense that large number of people are civilized now than ever before

- (E) The present civilization is more secure than any that has gone before
8. 'They were like oases in a desert' what does it mean ?
- (A) Previous civilizations were more attractive than the present civilization
- (B) Previous civilizations were confined to a very limited area while barbarians were far larger in number
- (C) Previous civilizations were shortlived
- (D) Previous civilizations were attractive from outside only
- (E) Previous civilizations were nature based
9. The present civilization :
- (A) Begins from 15th century
- (B) Begins from 16th century
- (C) Begins from 17th century
- (D) Begins from 18th century
- (E) Has no fixed date for its inception
10. The most appropriate title to the above passage may be:
- (A) The merits of the Previous Civilizations

Q2. Millions of people in the United States are affected by eating disorders. More than 90% of those afflicted are adolescents or young adult women. Although all eating disorders share some common manifestations, anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa, and binge eating each have distinctive symptoms and risks.

People who intentionally starve themselves (even while experiencing severe hunger pains) suffer from anorexia nervosa. The disorder, which usually begins around the time of puberty, involves extreme weight loss to at least 15% below the individual's normal body weight. Many people with the disorder look emaciated but are convinced they are overweight. In patients with anorexia nervosa, starvation can damage vital organs such as the heart and brain. To protect itself, the body shifts into slow gear: Menstrual periods stop, blood pressure rates drop, and thyroid function slows. Excessive thirst and frequent urination may occur. Dehydration contributes to constipation, and reduced body fat leads to lowered body temperature and the inability to withstand cold. Mild anemia, swollen joints, reduced muscle mass, and light-headedness also commonly occur in anorexia nervosa.

Anorexia nervosa sufferers can exhibit sudden angry outbursts or become socially withdrawn. One in ten cases of anorexia nervosa leads to death from starvation, cardiac arrest, other medical complications, or suicide. Clinical depression and anxiety place many individuals with eating disorders at risk for suicidal behavior.

People with bulimia nervosa consume large amounts of food and then rid their bodies of the excess calories by vomiting, abusing laxatives or diuretics, taking enemas, or exercising obsessively. Some use a combination of all these forms of purging. Individuals with bulimia who use drugs to stimulate vomiting, bowel movements, or urination may be in considerable danger, as this practice increases the risk of heart failure. Dieting heavily between episodes of bingeing and purging is common.

Because many individuals with bulimia binge and purge in secret and maintain normal or above normal body weight, they can often successfully hide their problem for years. But bulimia nervosa patients-even those of normal weight-can severely damage their bodies by frequent binge eating and purging. In rare instances, binge eating causes the stomach to rupture; purging may result in heart failure due to loss of vital minerals such as potassium. Vomiting can cause the esophagus to become inflamed and glands near the cheeks to become swollen. As in anorexia nervosa, bulimia may lead to irregular menstrual periods. Psychological effects include compulsive stealing as well as possible indications of obsessive-compulsive disorder, an illness characterized by repetitive thoughts and behaviors. Obsessive compulsive disorder can also accompany anorexia nervosa. As with anorexia nervosa, bulimia typically begins during adolescence. Eventually, half of those with anorexia nervosa will develop bulimia. The condition occurs most often in women but is also found in men.

Binge-eating disorder is found in about 2% of the general population. As many as one-third of this group is men. It also affects older women, though with less frequency. Recent research shows that binge-eating disorder occurs in about 30% of people participating in medically supervised weight-control programs.

This disorder differs from bulimia because its sufferers do not purge. Individuals with binge-eating disorder feel that they lose control of themselves when eating. They eat large quantities of food and do not stop until they are uncomfortably full. Most sufferers are overweight or obese and have a history of weight fluctuations. As a result, they are prone to the serious medical problems associated with obesity, such as high cholesterol, high blood pressure, and diabetes.

Obese individuals also have a higher risk for gallbladder disease, heart disease, and some types of cancer. Usually they have more difficulty losing weight and keeping it off than do people with other serious weight problems. Like anorexic and bulimic sufferers who exhibit psychological problems, individuals with binge-eating disorder have high rates of simultaneously occurring psychiatric illnesses, especially depression.

1. Fatalities occur in what percent of people with anorexia nervosa? 2M
2. What is common consequence due to all the eating disorders mentioned in the passage ? 1M
3. How, according to the passage, are people with binge-eating disorder prone to heart ailments? 1M
4. Why are People who have an eating disorder but nevertheless appear to be of normal weight, most likely to have bulimia nervosa? 2M
5. Why do glandular functions of eating-disorder patients slow down ? 2M
6. Find the words which mean the same as: 1*2 = 2M
 - a. Deliberately
 - b. Eliminating

Q.3 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

It's not your aptitude, but your attitude, that determines your altitude. We may have heard this adage but how many of us have realized it. Many times our friends and closed ones ask us to 'think positive' when we are feeling depressed, angry, anxious, frustrated or just down-right negative. But we often choose this advice as the last thing to do.

Continuous criticism and failures break our confidence and we often imbibe negativity in our approach. But controlling our negative emotions is a must for a healthy and successful life. Our unlimited desires and ambitions often drive us into a utopian world where we actually forget to cherish our significant accomplishments. This leads to pessimism. One must not forget that negative attitudes grip one's mind easily. People always regret that they wouldn't achieve success, but the reality is that where there is struggle, there is success. Just relish what the almighty has given you without paying heed to what you don't possess. This mantra will help you in weeding out negativity.

Every coin has two sides, so has the life- One is Negative and other is Positive. It totally depends on us how we want to see our lives and overcome the odds to land in a better tomorrow. Great people said 'failure is way to success' . Going by the adage, it's the failure which prepares us to try harder for success. The only thing that matters is our approach to handle any situation.

When we start looking at brighter side of life, negativity will automatically vanish. It depends upon us how to look beyond odds and take failures as challenges. If you want to march ahead and live a decent life, just scotch negative thinking and cynicism and embrace mantra that let by gone be by gone and welcome every morning with all verve and zeal.

There are many people who inspire us in our lives. Former President of India APJ Abdul Kalam, US President Barack Obama and several others has been the role model of many. Learn from their experiences. Their success stories teach us the bitter experiences of lives and prepare us to handle adverse situations.

- o When negative thoughts override your mind, resort to self- introspection. Explore your likes and dislikes. This will help you in rediscovering yourself.
- o Start complimenting yourself. Pen down your accomplishments. This will boost your confidence and is beneficial for your inner growth.

SECTION A

READING - 30 Marks

1. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:
 1. That large animals require luxuriant vegetation has been a general assumption which has passed from one work to another; but I do not hesitate to say that it is completely false, and that it has vitiated the reasoning of geologists on some points of great interest in the ancient history of the world. The prejudice has probably been derived from India, and the Indian islands, where troops of elephants, noble forests, and impenetrable jungles, are associated together in every one's mind. If, however, we refer to any work of travels through the southern parts of Africa, we shall find allusions in almost every page either to the desert character of the country, or to the numbers of large animals inhabiting it. The same thing is rendered evident by the many engravings which have been published of various parts of the interior.
 2. Dr. Andrew Smith, who has lately succeeded in passing the Tropic of Capricorn, informs me that, taking into consideration the whole of the southern part of Africa, there can be no doubt of its being a sterile country. On the southern coasts there are some fine forests, but with these exceptions, the traveler may pass for days together through open plains, covered by a poor and scanty vegetation. Now, if we look to the animals inhabiting these wide plains, we shall find their numbers extraordinarily great, and their bulk immense.
 3. It may be supposed that although the species are numerous, the individuals of each kind are few. By the kindness of Dr. Smith, I am enabled to show that the case is very different. He informs me, that in lat. 24', in one day's march with the bullock-wagons, he saw, without wandering to any great distance on either side, between one hundred and one hundred and fifty rhinoceroses - the same day he saw several herds of giraffes, amounting together to nearly a hundred.
 4. At the distance of a little more than one hour's march from their place of encampment on the previous night, his party actually killed at one spot eight hippopotamuses, and saw many more. In this same river there were likewise crocodiles. Of course it was a case quite extraordinary, to see so many great animals crowded together, but it evidently proves that they must exist in great numbers. Dr. Smith describes the country passed through that day, as 'being thinly covered with grass, and bushes about four feet high, and still more thinly with mimosa-trees.'

5. Besides these large animals, anyone the least acquainted with the natural history of the Cape has read of the herds of antelopes, which can be compared only with the flocks of migratory birds. The numbers indeed of the lion, panther, and hyena, and the multitude of birds of prey, plainly speak of the abundance of the smaller quadrupeds: one evening seven lions were counted at the same time prowling round Dr. Smith's encampment. As this able naturalist remarked to me, the carnage each day in Southern Africa must indeed be terrific! I confess it is truly surprising how such a number of animals can find support in a country producing so little food.
6. The larger quadrupeds no doubt roam over wide tracts in search of it; and their food chiefly consists of underwood, which probably contains much nutriment in a small bulk. Dr. Smith also informs me that the vegetation has a rapid growth; no sooner is a part consumed, than its place is supplied by a fresh stock. There can be no doubt, however, that our ideas respecting the apparent amount of food necessary for the support of large quadrupeds are much exaggerated. The belief that where large quadrupeds exist, the vegetation must necessarily be luxuriant, is the more remarkable, because the converse is far from true.
7. Mr. Burchell observed to me that when entering Brazil, nothing struck him more forcibly than the splendour of the South American vegetation contrasted with that of South Africa, together with the absence of all large quadrupeds. In his Travels, he has suggested that the comparison of the respective weights (if there were sufficient data) of an equal number of the largest herbivorous quadrupeds of each country would be extremely curious. If we take on the one side, the elephants hippopotamus, giraffe, bos caffer, elan, five species of rhinoceros; and on the American side, two tapirs, the guanaco, three deer, the vicuna, peccari, capybara (after which we must choose from the monkeys to complete the number), and then place these two groups alongside each other it is not easy to conceive ranks more disproportionate in size.
8. After the above facts, we are compelled to conclude, against anterior probability that among the mammalia there exists no close relation between the bulk of the species, and the quantity of the vegetation, in the countries which they inhabit. (809 words)

Adapted from: Voyage of the Beagle, Charles Darwin (1890)

1.1 On the basis of your understanding of the passage, answer the following

(1x4=4)

questions by choosing the most appropriate option:

1. The author is primarily concerned with
 - A. discussing the relationship between the size of mammals and the nature of vegetation in their habitats

- B. contrasting ecological conditions in India and Africa
 - C. proving that large animals do not require much food
 - D. describing the size of animals in various parts of the world
2. According to the author, the "prejudice? (Para 1) has lead to
 - A. errors in the reasoning of biologists
 - B. false ideas about animals in Africa
 - C. incorrect assumptions on the part of geologists
 - D. doubt in the mind of the author
 3. The flocks of migratory birds (Para 5) are mentioned to
 - A. describe an aspect of the fauna of South Africa
 - B. illustrate a possible source of food for large carnivores
 - C. contrast with the habits of the antelope
 - D. suggest the size of antelope herds
 4. Darwin quotes Burchell?s observations in order to
 - A. counter a popular misconception
 - B. describe a region of great splendor
 - C. prove a hypothesis
 - D. illustrate a well-known phenomenon

1.2 Answer the following questions briefly:

(1x6=6)

1. What prejudice has vitiated the reasoning of geologists?
2. Why does Dr. Smith refer to Africa as a sterile country?
3. What is the "carnage? referred to by Dr. Smith?
4. What does Darwin?s remark, "if there were sufficient data?, indicate?
5. To account for the "surprising? number of animals in a "country producing so little food?, what partial explanation does Darwin suggest?
6. What does the author conclude from Dr. Smith and Burchell?s observations?

1.3 Pick out the words/phrases from the passage which are similar in meaning to the following:

(1 x2 = 2)

- a) Dense (Para 1)
- b) Barren ((Para 2)

Q2. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

1. I?ve always held the belief that rationale or logic has no place in faith. If you have faith in the Supreme then you must also accept that you are not out there to defend your faith based on any scientific evidence. Those who don?t share your belief have an equal right to their opinion. What matters is your personal stand. If you feel peaceful and joyous, if you feel inspired to do good deeds by having your faith, then by all means keep it, there?s no reason to abandon it.

2. Einstein once got a letter asking if he believed in the Supreme. Einstein sent a telegram in response stating, "I believe in Spinoza's idea of the Supreme who reveals himself in the orderly harmony of what exists, not in someone who concerns himself with the fates and actions of human beings." In case you are not familiar, Baruch Spinoza (1632 - 1677) was a Dutch philosopher (yes, not just brilliant engineers, they have philosophers too). An unorthodox and independent thinker, his views were revolutionary at the time. His philosophy is thought-provoking. So, where does that leave us in regards to faith?
3. To me, faith is a sentiment, it's an emotion. Just like you fall in love and you surrender in love and you find yourself willing to do anything for the person you love, same is with faith. Faith is love. When you have faith, you let go of your worries of the future, you let go of your guilt of the past, because you have surrendered to the divine will. You remain committed to a life of goodness and action. But, you also recognize that there are other bigger forces, of immense scale, in play in the grand scheme of things and it'll do you much good to play along.
4. You gain this courage, zest and zeal to work hard, to excel, to serve. Life looks beautiful and everything looks priceless then, because it truly is. Even our suffering is priceless. It gives you strength, it makes you reflect on you. It is priceless because you appreciate life more, it brings you closer to you, the real you. Don't limit yourself by asking petty things from the Supreme. Trust the immensity of nature. Faith does not mean all your dreams will come true, it simply means you look upon everything that's granted to you as a blessing. Just focus on your deeds, and before long, you'll be filled beyond measure
5. Accepting the transient nature of this world, and its eternal impermanence, is the definitive path to inner peace. Either live in complete surrender or exercise total control. If your boat is neither anchored nor guided, it'll just drift then. It'll drift in the direction of your thoughts, desires and emotions. Here today, there tomorrow.
6. Cosmic intelligence is infinitely more subtle, smart, organized and selfless than individual intelligence. Anchor your ship if you are tired of rowing. Have faith.

Q3. Read the following passage carefully:

1. Classical dance evolved from Tamil Nadu's temples across centuries. The revived and reformed Bharatanatyam keeps the art born of these ancient temples alive even to this day. Once sustained and nurtured in temples as part of a rich and vibrant temple tradition, classical dance in South India has remained over centuries a dynamic, living tradition that is continuously renewed.
2. Even 2000 years ago, dance in India was a highly evolved and complex art. It was an integral part of ancient Indian theatre as established by the Natya Shastra, the oldest and exhaustive treatise on theatre and dramaturgy. Dance dramas were performed in temple precincts. Dance movements were crystallised in stone as karanas in temple sculpture. Following the Bhakti movement in the 6th century, dance and music became powerful vehicles of veneration. The deity was treated like a much-loved king, praised and royally entertained with music and dance, as part of the daily sacred rituals of worship. Gifted, highly educated temple dancers or devadasis were supported by the temples that were richly endowed by the rulers. Some 400 temple dancers were dedicated to and maintained by the Brihadeswarar Temple in Thanjavur. Dance evolved as a composite art in temples as dancers, nattuvanars (dance gurus), musicians, poets, composers, architects, sculptors and painters shared a holistic approach to all the arts.
3. The evolution of Bharatanatyam derives from the invaluable contribution of The Tanjore Quartet. The four Pillai brothers - Chinnayya, Ponnayya, Sivanandam and Vadivelu - served as court musicians at the kingdom of Maratha king, Serfoji II in the early 19th century. Their legacy to Bharatanatyam has been their restructuring of the dance repertoire into the margam format and their vast and diverse music compositions set specifically for dance. Some of their descendants like Guru Meenakshisundaram Pillai evolved the famous Pandanallur bani (style) and trained many eminent dancers.
4. From the temples, dance made its way into the courts of kings and dancers were not just devadasis, but also rajanartakis. By the early 17th century dance forms like sadir or chinna melam, precursors to Bharatanatyam as we know it today had become popular in the courts of the Maratha rulers in Thanjavur. However, in the 19th century, colonial propaganda perceived such dance as vulgar and immoral. It led to the Anti-Nautch Movement and legislation against temple dance and dancers. Divested of all patronage and temple support, devadasis were thrown into dire straits. In the early 20th century, thanks to enlightened visionaries like EV Krishna Iyer and later, Rukmini Devi Arundale, and the dedication of a handful of devadasis and nattuvanars, classical dance was resuscitated and revived as bharatanatyam. Today, apart from a few cultural festivals in some temples, dance has left the temple for the proscenium stage. (454 words)

Instructions:

1. All questions are compulsory.
2. You may attempt any section at a time.
3. All questions of that particular section must be attempted in the correct order.

SECTION A

READING - 30 Marks

1. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:
 1. One of the greatest sailing adventures of the past 25 years was the conquest of the Northwest Passage, powered by sail, human muscle, and determination. In 100 days, over three summers (1986-88), Canadians Jeff MacInnis and Mike Beedell accomplished the first wind-powered crossing of the Northwest Passage.
 2. In Jeff MacInnis's words...Our third season. We weave our way through the labyrinth of ice, and in the distance we hear an unmistakable sound. A mighty bowhead whale is nearby, and its rhythmic breaths fill us with awe. Finally we see it relaxed on the surface, its blowhole quivering like a volcanic cone, but it senses our presence and quickly sounds. We are very disappointed. We had only good intentions - to revel in its beautiful immensity and to feel its power. Mike thinks how foolish it would be for this mighty beast to put any faith in us. After all, we are members of the species that had almost sent the bowhead into extinction with our greed for whale oil and bone. It is estimated that as many as 38,000 bowheads were killed off eastern Baffin Island in the 1800s; today there are about 200 left.
 3. The fascinating and sometimes terrifying wildlife keeps us entertained during our explorations. Bearded harp and ring seals greet us daily. The profusion of bird life is awesome; at times we see and smell hundreds of thousands of thickbilled murrelets clinging to their cliffside nests. Our charts show we are on the edge of a huge shoal where the frigid ocean currents upwell and mix nutrients that provide a feast for the food chain. At times these animals scare the living daylights out of us. They have a knack of sneaking up behind us and then shooting out of the water and belly flopping for maximum noise and splash. A horrendous splash coming from behind has a heart-stopping effect in polar bear country.
 4. We have many encounters with the "Lords of the Arctic," but we are always cautious, observant, and ever so respectful that we are in their domain. In some regions the land is totally devoid of life, while in others the pulse of life takes our breath away. Such is the paradox of the Arctic; It's wastelands flow into oasis' that are found nowhere else on the face of the earth. Many times we find ancient signs of Inuit people who lived here, superbly attuned to the land. We feel great respect for them; this landscape is a challenge at every moment.

5. We face a 35 mile open water passage across Prince Regent Inlet on Baffin Island that will take us to our ultimate goal - Pond Inlet on Baffin Bay. The breakers look huge from the water's edge. Leaning into the hulls, like bobsledders at the starting gate, we push as hard as we can down the gravel beach to the sea. We catch the water and keep pushing until we have plunged waist deep, then drag ourselves aboard. Immediately, we begin paddling with every ounce of effort. Inch by agonizing inch, Perception moves offshore. Sweat pours off our bodies. Ahead of us, looming gray-white through the fog, we see a massive iceberg riding the current like the ghost of a battleship. There is no wind to fill our sails and steady the boat, and the chaotic motion soon brings seasickness. Slowly the wind begins to build. Prince Regent Inlet now looks ominous with wind and waves. The frigid ocean hits us square in the face and chills us to the bone.
6. We were on the fine edge. Everything the Arctic had taught us over the last 90 days was now being tested. We funneled all that knowledge, skill, teamwork, and spirit into this momentous crossing... If we went over in these seas we could not get the boat back up. Suddenly the wind speed plummeted to zero as quickly as it had begun... Now we were being pushed by the convulsing waves toward sheer 2,000 foot cliffs. Two paddles were our only power. Sailing past glacier capped mountains, we approached the end of our journey. At 05:08 on the morning of our hundredth day, speeding into Baffin Bay, the spray from our twin hulls makes rainbows in the sun as we complete the first sail powered voyage through the Northwest Passage.
7. We have journeyed through these waters on their terms, moved by the wind, waves and current. The environment has always been in control of our destiny; we have only tried to respond in the best possible way. We've been awake for nearly 23 hours, but we cannot sleep. The joy and excitement are too great. Our Hobie Cat rests on the rocky beach, the wind whistling in her rigging, her bright yellow hulls radiant in the morning sunlight. She embodies the watchword for survival in the Arctic - adaptability. (838 words)

- I. On the basis of your understanding of the passage, answer the following

(1x4 = 4 Marks)

questions by choosing the most appropriate option

1. The passage is about the
 - A. author's sailing adventure through the Northwest Passage

 - C. survival skills needed while sailing
 - D. saving the Arctic
2. "Lords of the Arctic," (Para 4) refers to
 - A. Wind breakers
 - B. Icebergs

- C. Polar Bears
D. Innuits
3. The author's sailing vessel is named
A. Prince Regent
B. Hobie Cat
C. Perception
D. Arctic
4. 'We were on the fine edge' refers to
A. the Prince Regent Inlet
B. the ominous sail
C. the frigid ocean
D. their expedition
- 1.2 Answer the following questions briefly: (1x6=6)
1. Why does the author feel disappointed to see the bowhead whale disappear into the ocean?
 2. How does his sailing partner rationalize it?
 3. What reason does the author give for a thriving wildlife in the Arctic?
 4. What is the paradox of the Arctic?
 5. What skills helped the author and his partner survive the adventure?
 6. What is the author's sailing vessel an embodiment of?
- 1.3 Pick out the words/phrases from the passage which are similar in meaning to the following: (1x2 = 2)
- a) Abundance (Para 3)
 - b) Threatening (Para 5)
- Q2. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:
1. By the time a child is six or seven she has all the essential avoidances well enough by heart to be trusted with the care of a younger child. And she also develops a number of simple techniques. She learns to weave firm square balls from palm leaves, to make pinwheels of palm leaves or frangipani blossoms, to climb a coconut tree by walking up the trunk on flexible little feet, to break open a coconut with one firm well-directed blow of a knife as long as she is tall, to play a number of group games and sing the songs which go with them, to tidy the house by picking up the litter on the stony floor, to bring water from the sea, to spread out the copra to dry and to help gather it in when rain threatens, to go to a neighboring house and bring back a lighted faggot for the chief's pipe or the cook-house fire.
 2. But in the case of the little girls all these tasks are merely supplementary to the main business of baby-tending. Very small boys also have some care of the younger children, but at eight or nine years of age they are usually relieved of it. Whatever rough edges have not been smoothed off by this responsibility for younger children are worn off by their contact with older boys. For little boys are admitted to interesting and important activities only so long as their behavior is circumspect and helpful

3. Where small girls are brusquely pushed aside, small boys will be patiently tolerated and they become adept at making themselves useful. The four or five little boys who all wish to assist at the important, business of helping a grown youth lasso reef eels, organize themselves into a highly efficient working team; one boy holds the bait, another holds an extra lasso, others poke eagerly about in holes in the reef looking for prey, while still another tucks the captured eels into his lavalava. The small girls, burdened with heavy babies or the care of little staggerers who are too small to adventure on the reef, discouraged by the hostility of the small boys and the scorn of the older ones, have little opportunity for learning the more adventurous forms of work and play.
4. So while the little boys first undergo the chastening effects of baby-tending and then have many opportunities to learn effective cooperation under the supervision of older boys, the girls' education is less comprehensive. They have a high standard of individual responsibility, but the community provides them with no lessons in cooperation with one another. This is particularly apparent in the activities of young people: the boys organize quickly; the girls waste hours in bickering, innocent of any technique for quick and efficient cooperation. - 2.1 On the basis of your understanding of the passage, answer the following questions by choosing the most appropriate option

- a) The primary purpose of the passage with reference to the society under discussion is to
 - i. explain some differences in the upbringing of girls and boys
 - ii. criticize the deficiencies in the education of girls
 - iii. give a comprehensive account of a day in the life of an average young girl
 - iv. delineate the role of young girls
- b. The list of techniques in paragraph one could best be described as
 - i. household duties
 - ii. rudimentary physical skills
 - iii. important responsibilities
 - iv. useful social skills

- 2.2 Answer the following as briefly as possible:

(1x6=6)

- a) What is the prime responsibility of a girl child by the time she is six or seven?
- b) What simple techniques does she learn at this stage?
- c) What household chores is she responsible for?
- d) In what way is a boy's life different?

- e) What qualities ensure that the boys move on to a higher responsibility?
- f) Why do small girls have little opportunity for learning the more adventurous forms of work and play?
- g) In what way is the girls' education less comprehensive?
- h) How is this apparent?
- 2.3 Find words from the passage which mean the same as the following: (1x2=2)
- (i) brusquely (para 3)
- (ii) scorn (para 3)

Q3. Read the following passage carefully:

1. It seems that there is never enough time in the day. But, since we all get the same 24 hours, why is it that some people achieve so much more with their time than others? The answer lies in good time management. "Time management" refers to the way that you organize and plan how long you spend on specific activities. Good time management requires an important shift in focus from activities to results: being busy isn't the same as being effective. (Ironically, the opposite is often closer to the truth.) Spending your day in a frenzy of activity often achieves less, because you're dividing your attention between so many different tasks. Good time management lets you work smarter - not harder - so you get more done in less time.
2. It may seem counter-intuitive to dedicate precious time to learning about time management, instead of using it to get on with your work, but the benefits are enormous. It improves productivity and efficiency. Your reputation as a professional grows. The stress levels dip and the a world of opportunities opens up for you. Your career advances and important goals are reached.
3. Failing to manage your time effectively can have some very undesirable consequences. Deadlines are missed and the work flow is not only inefficient but of poor quality. It dents your reputation as a professional and your career is in in danger of being stalled. As a result your stress level shoots up.
4. Everyday interruptions at work can be a key barrier to managing your time effectively and, ultimately, can be a barrier to your success. Think back to your last workday, and consider for a minute the many interruptions that occurred. There may have been phone calls, emails, hall way conversations, colleagues stopping by your office, or anything else that unexpectedly demanded your attention and, in doing so, distracted you from the task at-hand. Because your day only has so many hours in it, a handful of small interruptions can rob you of the time you need to achieve your goals and be successful in your work and life. More than this, they can break your focus, meaning that you have to spend time re-engaging with the thought processes needed to successfully complete complex work. The key to controlling interruptions is to know what they are and whether they are necessary, and to plan for them in your daily schedule. (403 words)

- a) On the basis of your reading of the above passage make notes on it 8
using headings and sub-headings. Use recognizable abbreviations wherever necessary.

- b) Write a summary of the above in 80 words using the notes. 3

- (iii) Do not exceed the prescribed word limit while answering the questions.

SECTION A
READING

- 30 Marks

1. Read the passage given below carefully :

1. For four days, I walked through the narrow lanes of the old city, enjoying the romance of being in a city where history still lives - in its cobble stone streets and in its people riding asses, carrying vine leaves and palm as they once did during the time of Christ.
2. This is Jerusalem, home to sacred sites of Christianity, Islam and Judaism. This is the place that houses the church of the Holy Sepulchre, the place where Jesus was finally laid to rest. This is also the site of Christ's crucifixion, burial and resurrection.
3. Built by the Roman Emperor Constantine at the site of an earlier temple to Aphrodite. It is the most venerated Christian shrine in the world. And justifiably so. Here, within the church are the last five stations of the cross, the 10th station where Jesus was stripped of his clothes, the 11th where he was nailed to the cross, the 12th where he died on the cross, the 13th where the body was removed from the cross, and the 14th, his tomb.
4. For all this weighty tradition, the approach and entrance to the church is non-descript. You have to ask for directions. Even to the devout Christian pilgrims walking along the Via Dolorosa - the Way of Sorrows - first nine stations look clueless. Then a courtyard appears, beamed in by other buildings and a doorway to one side. This leads to a vast area of huge stone architecture.
5. Immediately inside the entrance is your first stop. It's the stone anointing this is the place, according to Greek tradition, where Christ was removed from the cross. The Roman Catholics, however, believe it to be the spot where Jesus' body was prepared for burial by Joseph.
6. What happened next? Jesus was buried. He was taken to a place outside the city of Jerusalem where other graves existed and there, he was buried in a cave. However, all that is long gone, destroyed by continued attacks and rebuilding; what remains is the massive - and impressive - Rotunda (a round building with a dome) that Emperor Constantine built. Under this, and right in the centre of the Rotunda is the structure that contains the Holy Sepulchre.

7. " How do you know that this is Jesus' tomb?" I asked one of the pilgrims standing next to me. He was clueless more interested like the rest of them in the novelty of it all and in photographing it, than in its history or tradition.
8. At the start of the first century, the place was disused quarry outside the city walls, According to the gospels, Jesus' crucifixion occurred at a place outside the city walls with graves nearby...' Archaeologists have discovered tombs from that era, so the site is compatible with the biblical period.
9. The structure at the site is marble tomb built over the original burial chamber, It has two rooms, and you enter four at a time into the first of these. the Chapel of the Angel. Here the angel is supposed to have sat on stone to recount Christ's resurrection. A low door made of white marble, partly worn away by pilgrims' hand leads to a smaller chamber inside. This is the room of the tomb. the place where Jesus was buried.
10. We entered in single file. On my right was a large marble slab that covered the original rock bench on which the body of Jesus was laid. A woman knelt and prayed. Her eyes were wet with tears. She pressed her face against the slab to hide them, but She pressed her face against the slab to hide them, but it only made it worse.

On the basis of your understanding of this passage answer the following questions with help of given options

(1x4=4)

- (a) How does Jerusalem still retain the charm of ancient era?
 - (i) There are narrow lanes.
 - (ii) Roads are paved with cobblestones.
 - (iii) People can be seen riding asses
 - (iv) All of the above.
- (b) Holy Sepulchre is sacred to?
 - (i) Christianity
 - (ii) Islam
 - (iii) Judaism
 - (iv) Both (i) and (iii)
- (c) Why does one have to constantly ask for directions to the church?
 - (i) Its lanes are narrow
 - (ii) Entrance to the church is non-descript
 - (iii) People are not tourist - friendly
 - (iv) Everyone is lost in enjoying the romance of the place.
- (d) Where was Jesus buried?
 - (i) In a cave
 - (ii) At a place outside the city
 - (iii) In the Holy Sepulchre
 - (iv) Both (i) and (ii)

Answering the following questions briefly :

(1x6 =6)

- (e) What is the Greek belief about the 'stone of anointing'?
- (f) Why did Emperor Constantine attitude build the Rotunda?
- (g) What is the general attitude of the pilgrims?
- (h) How is the site compatible with the biblical period?
- (i) Why did the pilgrims enter the room of the tomb in a single file?
- (j) Why did 'a woman' try to hide her tears?
- (k) Find words from the passage which mean the same as :

(1x2 = 2)

- (i) A large grave (para 3)
- (ii) Having no interesting features/dull (para 4)

1. Read the passage given below carefully :

1. We often make all things around us the way we want them. Even during our pilgrimages we have begun to look for whatever makes our heart happy, gives comfort to our body and peace to the mind. It is as if external solutions will fulfil our needs, and we do not want to make any special efforts even in our spiritual search. Our mind is resourceful- it works to find shortcuts in simple and easy ways.
2. Even pilgrimages have been converted into tourism opportunities. Instead, we must awaken our conscience and souls and understand the truth. Let us not tamper with either our own nature or that of the Supreme.
3. All our cleverness is rendered ineffective when nature does a dance of destruction. Its fury can and will wash away all imperfections. Indian culture, based on Vedic treatises, assists in human evolution, but we were now using our entire energy in distorting these traditions according to our convenience instead of making efforts to make ourselves worthy of them.
4. The irony is that human are not even aware of the complacent attitude they have allowed themselves to sink to. Nature is everyone's Amma and her fierce blows will sooner or later corner us and force us to understand this truth Earlier. pilgrimages to places of spiritual significance were rituals that were undertaken when people became free from their worldly duties. Even now some seekers take up this pious religious Journey as a path of peace and knowledge. Anyone travelling with this attitude feels and travels with only a few essential items that his body can carry. Pilgrims traditionally travelled light. on foot, eating light. dried chickpeas and fruits, or whatever was available. Pilgrims of olden days did not feel the need to stay in special AC bedrooms, or travel by luxury cars or indulge themselves with delicious food and savouries.
5. Pilgrims traditionally moved ahead, creating a feeling of belonging towards all, conveying a message of brotherhood among all they came across whether in small caves, ashrams or local settlements. They received the blessings and congregations of yogis and mahatmas in return while conducting the dharama of their pilgrimage is like penance of sadhana to stay near nature and to experience a feeling of oneness with it. to keep the body healthy and fulfilled with the amount of food. while seeking freedom from attachments and yet remaining happy while staying away from relatives and associates.

6. This how a pilgrimage should be rather than making it like a picnic by taking a large group along and living in comfort. packing in entertainment, and tampering with environment. What is worse is giving a boost to the ego of having had a special darshan. Now alms are distributed, charity done while they brag about their spiritual experience.
7. We must embark on our spiritual journey by first understanding the grace and significance of a pilgrimage and following it up with the prescribed rules and rituals- this is what translates into the ultimate and beautiful medium of spiritual evolution. There is no justification for tampering with nature.
8. A pilgrimage is symbolic of contemplation and meditation and acceptance, and is a metaphor for the constant growth or movement and love for nature that we should hold in our hearts.
9. This is the truth!

On the basis of your understanding of the above passage answer the question that follow with the help of given options :

(1x2=2)

- (a) How can a pilgrim keep his body healthy?
 - (i) By travelling light
 - (ii) By eating small amount of food
 - (iii) By keeping free from attachments
 - (iv) Both (i) and (ii)
- (b) How do we satisfy our ego?
 - (i) By having a special darshan
 - (ii) By distributing alms
 - (iii) By treating it like a picnic
 - (iv) Both (i) and (ii)

Answer the following as briefly as possible :

(1x6=6)

- (c) What change has taken place in our attitude towards pilgrimages?

3. Read the passage given below carefully :

It is surprising that sometimes we don't listen to what people say to us. We hear them, but we don't listen to them. I was curious to know how hearing is different from listening. I had thought both were synonyms. but gradually. I realised there is a big difference between the two words.

Hearing is a physical phenomenon. Whenever somebody speaks, the sound waves generated reach you. and you definitely hear whatever is said to you. However, even if you hear something it doesn't always mean that you actually understand whatever is being said. Paying attention to whatever you hear means you are really listening. Consciously using your mind to understand whatever is being said is listening.

Diving deeper, I found that listening is not only hearing with attention, but is much more than that. Listening is hearing with full attention, and applying our mind. Most of the time, we listen to someone. but our minds are full of needless chatter and there doesn't seem to be enough space to accommodate what is being spoken.

We come with a lot of prejudices and preconceived notions about the speaker or the subject on which he is talking. We pretend to listen to the speaker, but deep inside, we sit in judgment and are dying to pronounce right or wrong, true or false, yes or no. Sometimes, we even come prepared with a negative mindset of proving the speaker wrong. Even if the speaker says nothing harmful, we are ready to pounce on him with our own version of things.

What we should ideally do is listen first with full awareness. Once, we have done that, we can decide whether we want to make a judgement or not. Once we do that, communication will be perfect and our interpersonal relationship will become so much better. Listening well doesn't mean we have to say the right thing at the right moment. In fact, sometimes if words are left unspoken, there is a feeling of tension and negativity. Therefore, it is better to speak out our mind, but do so with awareness after listening to the speaker with full concentration.

Let's look at this in another way. When you really listen, you imbibe not only what is being spoken. but you also understand what is not spoken as well. Most of the time we don't really listen even to people who really matter to us. That's how misunderstanding grows among families, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters.
